REV. April 2024

Haywood County is made up of many mountain communities each with their own history and genealogy. HCHGS serves as the hub for the county connecting these communities. These communities include Beaverdam, Bethel, Canton, Cataloochee, Clyde, Crabtree, Cruso, East Fork, Fines Creek, Maggie Valley, Hazelwood, Iron Duff, Jonathan Creek, Lake Junaluska, Center Pigeon, Saunook, Sunburst, Waynesville, and White Oak. Haywood County is home to many historic sites and districts of national, regional, and local significance.

HCH&GS has access to many resources for genealogy research both online and in person in the North Carolina Room at the Waynesville Public Library. As a service to all, we occasionally offer training on genealogy research. Call or write to be put in contact with our knowledgeable volunteers to learn more about your family, or to learn when our next training is.

Patronship benefits include access to genealogy research resources, patronship meetings held throughout the year, history workshops, activities to preserve Haywood County history, and a discount on museum tour fee.
